REFERENCES

For the Global Sales Conference that we organize annually, we need to partner with a highly professional, reliable and flexible event organizer to make it a great success. Tarifa was exactly that kind of partner. They perfectly understood what we needed and supported us impeccably from the very first moment until the end of the conference. I appreciated their speed to react, creativity and pro-activity. It was a pleasure to work with the Tarifa team. The event – organized on a tight lead time – was a true success with participants from all around the world returning from the conference highly energized and inspired.
